

Hello! If you're reading this document, then you've discovered my Tater Crate.

I have placed this box here because this hill is named Tater Hill, at least according to Google Maps.

Tater is short for Tiny Potato, which is a digital block that originates from the Botania modification, for the hit game Minecraft.

This block alone has spawned countless memes, remixes, and other high-effort Tater-related content. Tater is beloved. I hope that you too can share in the joy of Tater.

I love Tater. This is why I came to Tater Hill and put the Tater Crate here. In addition to this page, I have put some knick knacks inside the Tater Crate. You may take or leave these items, but also feel free to leave your own items in the box. Just make sure to leave this Tater Document.

I'd appreciate it if you left the Tater Crate at its spot for others to discover, but I completely understand if it must be removed because the container is unsightly, and/or because this is private property, and/or because you hate fun.

There's a Visitor's Log on the back of this document. Tater would appreciate it if you signed it.

Tater believes in you.
